

TV commercial song selections | Uber Eats (Japan)

Description

For the latest Uber Eats TV commercial series, we were happy to be involved in this project to supervise the music.

The initial ideas we had for the music were that we did not want it to be predictable. We needed songs that did not interrupt the conversation, whilst still feeling cosy and memorable. For this project the intention was that the song sounded as if it was naturally coming room.

Here are the two songs that have been selected for this project:
